

WEATHER ALERT Heat Advisory

WATCH

76°

LOG IN

REAL ESTATE

Inland Empire rental, housing prices on the rise as LA, OC residents relocate

By Leticia Juarez

Friday, February 26, 2021

SHARE
 TWEET
 EMAIL

EMBED <>

MORE VIDEOS ▶

The Inland Empire - with its open spaces and proximity to the mountains - has become a hot market for both renters and home buyers.

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (KABC) -- The Inland Empire - with its open spaces and proximity to the mountains - has become a hot market for both renters and home buyers.

"We are finding more and more people working in L.A. or other counties or states, and they are relocating to the Inland Empire where it is affordable," said Michael Rademaker, president and CEO of MGR Property Management.

Rademaker's property management company oversees apartments buildings and rental homes in San Bernardino and Riverside counties. He says demand for rentals is sky high.

"We are finding when the space goes vacant... in most cases the property rents pretty quickly," said Rademaker.

Rent is eating up a dangerous share of Californians' pay: This map shows how much

It's a trend that has been on the rise since last April as the pandemic had more people staying at home. People from Los Angeles and Orange counties have been migrating east, where not only rent, but homes tend to be much more affordable.

"The Inland Empire is crazy right now. There is no inventory, none, and that is causing a lot of demand for the properties when there are none," said broker Ted Jenkins with Windermere Real Estate.

Jenkins says part of that demand was created by low interest rates for home buyers.

"The sellers are getting multiple offers on every listing anywhere from 10 offers. I've heard crazy numbers like 50 to 75 offers all over asking price," said Jenkins.

RELATED: Gov. Newsom extends moratorium on evictions through June

EMBED <>MORE VIDEOS ▶

Renters who found themselves hours away from losing their homes found some relief on Sunday.

But with more people looking to put down roots in the Inland Empire, those already there are finding it harder to afford rising rents and home prices.

"People who have lived in L.A., Orange County and surrounding counties are now fleeing to San Bernardino County, taking the housing that is available to our residents," said Vanessa Perez with Time for Change Foundation.

The organization works to create affordable housing for underserved communities. One of its developments is located in San Bernardino known as Phoenix Square is helping to meet some of the demand.

"We are able to provide what we can with the housing that we currently have, but the need is not only long, its consistently growing," said Perez.

The hot housing market is expected to continue after the pandemic with more people now able to work from home while avoiding long commutes.

Report a correction or typo

RELATED TOPICS:

- real estate
- riverside county
- san bernardino county
- coronavirus
- housing
- rents
- covid 19 pandemic
- renters

 SHARE	 TWEET	 EMAIL
---	---	---

Copyright © 2022 KABC Television, LLC. All rights reserved.

MORE VIDEOS

From CNN Newsource affiliates

TOP STORIES

Sriracha shortage: What to know as SoCal headquarter halts production

Updated 3 hours ago

Authorities: 3 dead, trooper wounded in Maryland shooting

Updated 2 hours ago

5 Marines killed in Osprey crash in California

Threat of downtown LA mass shooting not credible, LAPD says

MI officer charged with murder after killing Black driver

Updated 2 hours ago

LASD: Compton baby expected to survive after being shot by brother

2 rescued after falling in tank full of chocolate in Pennsylvania

Updated 2 hours ago

SHOW MORE ▼

AccuWeather

Traffic

Local News

Categories

Station Info

Shows

Apps

Follow Us:

Privacy Policy   Children's Privacy Policy   Your California Privacy Rights
Terms of Use   Interest-Based Ads   Public Inspection File   FCC Applications

Copyright © 2022 KABC Television, LLC. All Rights Reserved.